

An Italian Won
Congress May Move
Oats Seven Cents
Why Make Millions?
By Arthur Brisbane

A YOUNG AMERICAN, Gene Sarazen, won the open British golf tournament yesterday, "shattering par" in every round except the last. Think of playing 18 holes, four times, in 70-69-70-74.

Gene Sarazen's father and mother are Italians. He belongs to a race that has contributed much to this country, beginning with Christopher Columbus, who discovered it.

In his victory over all comers, Sarazen even broke the record made by the incomparable and immortal Bobby Jones when he won the open tournament.

Congress, in its talking, planning, voting, taxing and appropriating, worries big business, and big business has been saying sarcastically to Congress: "Won't you PLEASE go home?" And Congress has been saying: "No, I won't."

But the veterans are in Washington, disturbing Congress as much as Congress was disturbing the financial big wigs. And now you hear that Congress will bring down gavel for the last time this session at the end of next week, and go away, not to give high finance the respite that it wants, but to escape the veterans.

Thus high finance is made double happy. Congress won't be there to do any more appropriating or taxing, and it won't be there to give the veterans their bonus money.

Oats on the farm in Iowa are selling at seven to eight cents a bushel; many acres will not be harvested, the price not paying for the labor.

For us on a horse-breeding farm in California, this winter is paying 40 cents a bushel for oats, in California lots, 1.00, 2.00, 3.00, 4.00, 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, 10.00, 11.00, 12.00, 13.00, CRIMINAL RECORDS

Englewood, N. J., June 11 (AP)—"They'll never take me from this house again. They'll never question me again."

This hysterical exclamation was attributed to Violet Sharpe, youthful waitress, by fellow-servants who talked with her several hours before her suicide in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow yesterday.

The English girl was questioned for times before she finally identified a picture of Ernest Brinkert, 30-year-old cab driver with a criminal record, as the man with whom she went riding mysteriously on the night the son of Colonel Lindbergh was kidnapped.

Why a girl of her apparently innocent background should go riding with a married man of Brinkert's record—she once served a year for assault; where she got the poison that killed her almost instantly, were questions that awaited answers.

Police voiced suspicions that she had "guilty knowledge" of the kidnapping, but they could not come up with any other theory. That she was in a fit of pique, and hid it at first and then was driven to unreasoning fear and panic when she saw the law swept down on her.

"Wants to Question Me But I Won't Go," She Said

Her statement that on the night of the kidnapping she was riding with a man named "Ernie" Brinkert, an English girl, said, that she had never been in the Englewood home. She said, as described by police, to tell anything about that ride was to tell the truth. She said she was in the room on the night of the kidnapping, and that she was in the room on the night of the kidnapping.

She was in her room on the night of the kidnapping, and that she was in the room on the night of the kidnapping. She was in her room on the night of the kidnapping, and that she was in the room on the night of the kidnapping.

around with Brinkert at afternoon. Walsh was undoubtedly having Brinkert go over his story again and again. Walsh's unkind remark would aid him in picking up discrepancies and once he found a flaw he would resume his hammering.

Walsh thought that he would take Brinkert to the neighboring roadhouse he and Violet Sharpe might have visited the night of March 1, assuming that the two were out together. He was sure against Brinkert is based on this assumption and if his story of being spent the night in Bridgport stands up, Brinkert an alibi will be released.

At Manamont, N. Y., author said today that on March 1 the day the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped and murdered, Brinkert left the employ of Claude W. Morrow in Brinkert, Ed, who has had served as butler for five months.

Capt. Edward Reck of the Manamont (N. Y.) police this afternoon said Claude W. Morrow, real estate man of Brinkert, Ed, declared he supposed the kidnap was to enter the Lindbergh nursery window on March 1 was stolen from the Morrow house.

Washington, June 11 (INS)—Overnight it has happened—The thing they said couldn't happen.
A month ago, a week ago, even 24 hours ago, every wiseacre in America was saying it would never come to this. Even those who were friendly shook their heads—said
"The boys are fighting a lost cause. Poor devils—they mean well but it's a foolish march. They'll never get America behind them. Things like that don't happen."

Kidnapers' Prey

Margaret Moffett, daughter of James A. Moffett, vice-president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, who was to have been kidnapped with her fiancé, Jay F. Carlisle, and tortured, according to a confession obtained from two high school boys arrested in New York after a $30,000 ransom was paid to them. (International News Photos.)

A week ago—just yesterday morning—the world was saying that. And now—
The sudden roar and rumble as the whole mountain side came booming down—
They became "Men World Remembers"

Remember? Yes! Then you'll have an idea—just a vain idea of what has happened to the bonus expeditionary force now invading Washington.
Yesterday they were the men the world had forgotten.
TODAY THEY ARE THE MEN THE WORLD IS REMEMBERING. WITH SUDEN SHAME WITH SUDEN PITY WITH SUDEN SYMPATHY.

For two weeks they have been limping in by the weary doors, their exhausted hundreds... spreading themselves out in a scattered, hopeless camp along the river banks. Then, this morning, they were out there, staring by day, shivering by night, humiliated and heckled by the powers that be.

Just like the start of that landslide—a feeble trickle of men, a feeble trickle of sympathy. Why did they keep on coming? "Fool marchers," said the wisecracks. "When they see they haven't a chance, they'll stop a day or two."
And then suddenly—almost in the turning of an hour—the tempest changed. Scrambling from nowhere the roads swarmed with men... the wires buzzed with messages.

I sat on a pile of dirt in front of one of these dignitaries this afternoon on Page 5, Column 2.

NIGHT BANK HAD MORTGAGE ON STILL

But Liquor Outfit Is "Orphan," With Nobody Claiming It. U. S. Hearing Discloses

Charles H. Innes led a battery of attorneys into federal court today to oppose efforts of dry agents to get authority to destroy stills and other equipment found in the "pillbox" of the Massachusetts Refinery in Montvale, Mass., where.
The hearing was held by federal agents Wednesday after several months of delay. Innes, a prominent attorney, was assisted by a number of other lawyers. The hearing was held in the federal court in Boston.

AN "ORPHAN STILL"
The hearing was held by federal agents Wednesday after several months of delay. Innes, a prominent attorney, was assisted by a number of other lawyers. The hearing was held in the federal court in Boston.

"Who is Innes?" demanded John D. Stone, assistant U. S. attorney.
"He is interested in the property," Thompson answered.
"Is the still?" persisted Stone.
"I don't know," said Thompson.

"Curious," said the prosecutor. "This is an orphan still. Nobody will admit owning any part of it. NOTWORTHY TO BE KNIGHT."
The hearing was held in the federal court in Boston.

It developed that the Methodist Trust Co. now closed, held a mortgage on personal and real property of the refinery.
Stone realized that it was the bank of Edward J. McQuinn, prominent Republican politician.

"KNOW NOTHING" SAYS SISTER

Southbridge, England, June 11 (AP)—Edna Sharpe, whose sister Violet committed suicide in the Morrow house at Englewood, N. J., denied today she knew anything about the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby.

"I know nothing whatever about the kidnapping," she said as she left here for her parents' home in Boston. "I know nothing, I'm quite sure my sister Violet knew nothing about it either."

"I never knew that baby disappeared was badgered and questioned by police until I didn't know what she was saying or doing."
"I used to work for Mrs. MacDonnell in Englewood, not far from where the Morrow house is. I was there for a while. I was left there to take a situation in New York four months before the kidnapping."

"After the baby was stolen Violet wrote Edna. She was in Englewood to see her. She was terribly upset. The police had been questioning her for hours. She swore to me that she knew nothing about the kidnapping. She said she was sure she knew nothing about it. She said she was sure she knew nothing about it. She said she was sure she knew nothing about it."

GIRL'S LETTERS SPOKE OFTEN OF KIDNAPING

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Berham, Eng. June 11 (INS)—Mrs. George Sharpe, 60-year-old mother of Violet and Edna, suddenly linked with the Lindbergh kidnapping through the suicide of the former, was located in this village 10 miles west of Reading, by International News Service today.

Her Last Letter Tells of Hunt for Kidnapers

"Just a few hurried lines. I hope you're feeling better and are having nice weather over there. It's been so hot here."

"I don't know whether I'll be able to come home. They're still looking for the kidnappers. I hope you'll look after it better."

"Have you been away anywhere since Babs came home? You don't write me very much these days. Is there nothing new or are you too busy?"

"Do you feel like doing cooking now, and does Edna eat plenty? How's the old man? Does he like his job now? How are you off?"

"Please don't forget to let me know. I don't seem to have much news so will ring off. Banks sends you kindest regards and hopes you'll write. Much love to you all."

Your loving daughter, "VIOLET."

Banks was understood to be Mrs. Morrow's butler, with whom Mrs. Sharpe said she was not acquainted.

Mother Tells of Last Letters From Daughter

A telegram announcing the death of Violet in the home of Mrs. Edna W. Morrow, the kidnapped baby's grandmother, in Englewood, N. J., where she was employed as a maid, was received at 9:30 a. m. today. It merely said Violet had "passed away."

A brother, James, had learned of the suicide in the morning papers, however, and was informing his mother of the tragic news to this correspondent arrived.

Girl's Dad in 'Pub' When Police Came

Berham, Eng. June 11 (INS)—A small two-story house, ill kept and dilapidated, was the English home of Mrs. Violet Sharpe. It is called "Kew Cottage," but weeks have strangled the roses all most out of existence.

Next door to the house is the neighborhood "pub." Mrs. Sharpe, a few-driver, was in the "pub" when police arrived to question the family and he returned to his beer drinking after a 15-minute interrogation.

According to Mrs. Sharpe, Edna, whose name actually is Edna, was now visiting a sister elsewhere in England. Edna, according to dispatches from the United States, left that country four days after $20,000 ransom was paid for the baby's return and now is sought for questioning by New Jersey authorities.

Claims Police Gave Them Clean Record

"My girls are both good and never caused me any trouble," Mrs. Sharpe told the correspondent. "She was in bad health, and that worried me, but she said she planned to rest and return to New York in September. I believe she bought a round-trip ticket."

Mrs. Sharpe is a little, gray-haired woman. Overcome by the sudden news of her daughter's suicide, she refused to be interviewed by kindly neighbors who came in to take care of her.

"Violet was not only a good daughter, but I've told a good many friends. Violet was not only a good daughter, but I've told a good many friends. Violet was not only a good daughter, but I've told a good many friends."

There were the last words she spoke before heading down. The interview ended with neighbors comforting her as she wept.

Mrs. Sharpe revealed she and other members of her family were questioned by police of Scotland Yard immediately after the Lindbergh kidnapping and the girls were given a clean record.

Formerly married in Berham that Edna had returned to England in the company of an unidentified man were denied by her father.

Violet Sharpe, maid in Morrow home, who ended her life as police came to question her as to her movements on the night the Lindbergh baby was stolen.

PLOT TO KIDNAP DEB FOILED

New York, June 11 (AP)—Two young high school graduates were under arrest today accused of a plot to extort $30,000 from James A. Moffett, vice-president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, by threats to kidnap and torture his daughter and her fiancé.

The prisoners, William Huff, 18, a Negro, and Arthur John Gaynor, 19, were accused of sending threatening communications to Moffett. After questioning him they placed Gaynor under guard in a hospital, where he had undergone an operation.

Moffett's daughter, Margaret, is engaged to marry Jay F. Carlisle, a stock broker and grandson of Allan Pinkerton, founder of the detective agency. Carlisle's brother, Allan, recently married Romaine Fleming, Broadway dancer.

Roosevelt Acts to Get Vets Home

Albany, N. Y., June 11 (AP)—Determined to bring New England's home-maintenance home from Washington, Gov. Roosevelt has sent a state relief bill to Albany to pay their way home. When they get back, jobs will be waiting for them on state work relief projects.

LEAGUE LEADERS DRIVES OPEN SERIES WITH BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

With GEORGE UNDERWOOD
Bowler and Wrestling. Poosh 'Em Up Tony.
Always Fair Weather. Yankee Spark Plug.
Sideshow to Big Tent. Trading Time Short.

Sweet Adeline Will Be Murdered, Tonight
Weather reports—fair weather, tonight. "It's always fair weather when good fellows get together," goes the song, you know. And more than 500 good fellows will get together at the Statler, tonight, to honor a regular feller. Any guy that can induce 500 men these days to cough up $5 each for the privilege of sitting down and telling him what a swell guy he is, must be a regular feller. But that is what everyone from Governor Ely and Mayor Curley down will be telling Paul Bowser, tonight. Paul is the chap who made wrestling in Boston. He took it out of the side show and put it under the Big Tent. He came in from the old Howard to the Grand Opera House and thence to Arena and Garden to entertain, enthuse and make thousands insane. From a little store on wrestling's Side Street, Bowser developed his wrestling into a gigantic corporation of country-wide scope, doing business on the Broadways of the World.

HERE'S HOW! PROST! NOO! TUNE! SLENITE!
But it is not because he happens to be the head of one of the world's largest wrestling organizations that he is the hero of tonight. He is the hero because he is the only man in the world who has done for the unemployed, and particularly the unemployed of Boston, for instance, this year, have profited to the extent of $32,000 from Bowser's wrestling promotions. That is not counting what Bowser did for the Xmas Basket Fund and other charities. Bowser has given so much the good thought it was just to give Paul something himself. If that wasn't a good excuse to throw a dinner, what is?

In addition to local political and business dignitaries many out of town admirers will attend "Sweet Adeline," tonight, in Bowser's honor. Jimmy Johnson, Madison Square Garden general manager, is coming on with a flock of New Yorkers. Montreal will be represented by Leslie Hupel, Joe Asdon, Oscar Benoit and B. A. Latourner. Phil Glesman, Charlie Grip, Jimmie Wilson and Elmer McGrath are coming from Philadelphia. Tod Tomlinson will represent Chicago. Ed Foster, Cy Mitchell, Ray Vance and Ed. Brown are coming from Providence. Jack Hayes is bringing down the Portlanders. Jack McGrath the Worcesterites and Homer Rahnalt the Holyokians. Fair weather—but nevertheless it looks like a wet night!

Who do you think will be seated among the diners? Teets Mendt and Jack Washburn, the rival promoter and rival bad man to Promoter Bowser and Bad Man Strack of the left branch of the Grand and Grand trust. Get out of range if Washburn and Strack start tossing glasses—oh, plates—at one another. The pair of Bad Ones may decide not to wait until next Wednesday night to settle their argument.

Don't blame it on Joe McCarthy that the Yankees are out there remaining along in the American League lead. The fellow who chaffs it is all responsible for the Yanks being where they are. Tony Lazzeri and all his bad winter and this spring Marching were the Yanks' last hope. But he gave up $30,000 to transfer him from St. Paul to N.Y. Joe quit Johnny would set the league afire and that Tony was passive. He sided such a bunk off Tony's salary that Tony couldn't help but be a holdout. Joe passed the word around that he didn't care whether Lazzeri reported or not. Keep him chaffing in the discount all training season. Had Saitzger played second base throughout the spring exhibition games, Joe would have been at Johnny's side. Tony still warning the bench. But when after 16 days in big league ball Saitzger failed to get a single, soldier hit there was nothing left for McCarthy but to get back at his old post at the Yankees' side. Tony has been killing the ball. He is outstripping Ruth, and all other players. Catcher Bill Dickey. Poosh 'Em Up Tony is the league's third best hitter.

When Walter Johnson was here last week he declared that Lazzeri meant the present for the Yanks. "With Lazzeri out of the lineup, we can beat the Yanks in the week," declared Walter. "With Lazzeri in there, we find the Yanks the hardest club in the league to beat."

Robt Ruth himself on his last trip to Boston openly extolled Tony. "That's the bunk about saying 'As Ruth goes so go the Yankees'," he proudly declared the Bambino. "You can gauge us by Lazzeri. He, not me, is our heart. I don't care what you say. He is the Yanks' first member back in 1926 when we won the pennant. In July we had a 12-game lead when Tony was hurt. Tony went to the hospital and we went to the dogs. The Athletics came on and caught up with us."

ONE RUTH
TWO LAZZERI

"Against the advice of his doctors Lazzeri left the hospital on Labor Day when he had a double header scheduled with the Athletics. Tony's arm was so bad he couldn't throw overhand. Had to file 'em. But he's got his boy with Tony back there in his old place at second we took both ends of that double header, then made it four straight over the Athletics and sent snatching ahead to win the world series. Of course I can't name. So do Gehrig, Egan, Fennick, Dickey, all the boys. But Tony Lazzeri is the sports king of the nation."

Wednesday, June 15, is the day the big leagues have to get down to the limit of 25 players. The Braves only have to let one more player go. The Sox must lose off three more heads. In addition, June 25 is the last day the big league clubs can buy or trade big league players. They only can get them through waivers or from minor leagues. So if any other Red Sox trade is to be made it must come before Wednesday. Bob Quinn undoubtedly has benefited by the Pats Jablonowski-Jack Russell trade. But if the Red Sox are going to get out of the Slough of Despond other changes will have to be made before next Wednesday.

Between editions we opened an autographed copy of our old pal Eddie Brown's "Fighting for Fun," just off the Macmillan Press. We pressed us up opened it, thinking it the usual sports story, and oh, how we were surprised. It was a quarter of a century in the game. We skimmed over a few paragraphs and suddenly caught our. Eddie chuckling and chuckled in the fresh, boyish spirit of it. We became so interested in it that we forgot all about editing and everything else. It's a He-Man book, but the inmates as well as the fans will like it, and it's as clean and spotless as it is fresh and boyish. Brown's funny, funny and many other sports stories. Brown has forced or been inspired with, breathe from its pages. We are looking forward to an hour or so's relaxation with it tonight.

Shepard Linksman Top Retail Trade Field

By BILL GRIMES
Five years ago Wm. Filene's Sons Co., retired the Schlesinger Cup from competition but they failed to win the third and final leg of the Proct Cup during the 13th annual Boston Retail Trade Board tournament at the Charles River Country Club, because of the well balanced team of the Shepard Stores.

Capt. John Shepard, 34, fielded the identical team that won the championship total of the four-man Shepard Stores team was 34, 30, 20, 20. Although John Shepard, 34, and Ben Black played up to standard and came through with scores expected, H. M. Ulino and C. M. Kuchan turned in the best rounds of their careers, and were in a large measure responsible for the Shepard Stores' conquest. As it stands now Filene's and Shepard's have each won two legs on the Proct Cup, with C. F. Harvey in possession of one. Eugene McGrawney and Edmund P. Dolan are guests, the thirteenth annual Retail Trade Board tournament was one of the most successful in the annals of the organization. There were 65 starters and scores varied from Jack McCarthy's 79 to Joe Goodman's 141.

It began to rain as the last round of the tournament was in progress and the low and high gross prizes. McCarthy and Goodman to win the low and high gross prizes. McCarthy has been toying the field for years, and as John Shepard said, when he awarded the Filene's golfer the prize, "possibly some will come along about 180 and carry off the low gross of this tournament, but not until then."

Ben Black was awarded the second gross prize, which was donated by Wm. Filene's Sons Co., a cigarette case and lighter, while Jack McCarthy took home another device, which came from the R. H. White Co.

Wightman Cup Stays With American Team

Wimbledon, Eng. June 11 (AP)—The United States successfully defended the Wightman Cup, women's international tennis trophy, today as Helen Wills Moody, the American champion, defeated Dorothy Round of Great Britain.

It was the fourth straight victory and clinched the series. Mrs. Moody was victorious over Miss Round by scores of 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. The American team had captured all three matches yesterday.

Miss Round Fakes Baseline for the Net
Mrs. Moody won the first set, 6-2. Miss Round tried rushing in the net against Mrs. Moody from the outset but succeeded only in making the tennis more interesting. The British girl dropped her own service in the opening game but made it good in the third and fifth games. She sustained several brief rallies but was unable to match Mrs. Moody's steadiness from the baseline.

Mrs. Moody kept Miss Round on the baseline throughout the second set and kept command from the start, with the exception of a few lapses in service.

The British girl broke through the American's service in the third and fifth games, dropping her own at love in between. Thereafter, after Miss Moody's attempt to reach the net.

Samoset Canoe Club Marathon Tomorrow
The sixth annual 36-mile marathon, staged by the Samoset Canoe Club from Medford to the club's headquarters, Springfield, Mass., today, will be held tomorrow.

A formidable array of paddlers will be sent away at 12 o'clock by Chief of Police Coleman Hoggan of Medford. Three previous winners are among the racers. Interest this year is in whether or not Davis Chapin of the Omicron Delta Chi of Waltham can retire the former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller trophy. Chapin already has secured two legs by his victories in 1928 and 1931.

Miss Smith Is Winner at Hartford
Hartford, Conn., June 11 (AP)—Miss Clara Smith of Pine Orchard, Conn., won the women's singles championship here today in the 3rd annual New England tournament at the Hartford Golf Club course.

The last Cien McGregor and Boston Celtics soccer eleven clash tomorrow at Sullivan Square in their first game of the Mayor James M. Curley cup semifinal.

The contest is the most important, played at a local pitch for the season.

FREE BREAK KEEP TO BED ON TOP

By JOE CASHMAN
The season's first series entitled to be called crucial opened at the Wigwam, this afternoon, with Will McKeen's doughty pace-setting Braves and Rogers Hornsby's second-place Chicago Cubs playing the first of four scheduled battles for the National League pennant.

The Warriors' margin over the Braves, notwithstanding the victory today, was a half game, gained yesterday when they whipped the world's Champion Cardinals and the Dodgers took the Windy City entry into camp to make the figures read:

W. 1. P. C.
Boston 30 25 377
Chicago 28 25 369
Consequently, the natives need only to break even to retain their title while the Cubs are in town. And if they perform as well in their first two games as they have in the last two, they should do better than that, for they took two out of three from the Cardinals in Chicago last night.

The Cubs' so-called best pitching staff in the league is very badly shot after the disastrous visit to Brooklyn. Hornsby used all seven of his fingers while losing three out of four games in the Pittsburghers and falling out of first place.

Braves and Cubs Struggle for First Place
A struggle for the first place, long an almost daily occurrence in the National League, is on today. It's been ten seasons, at least, since the Braves and Cubs have been separated by more than a half game.

With good weather the record figure of $2,000 will be in danger tomorrow.

This series will be a high spot in a season of bitter fights. The Braves and Cubs have been going for the National League pennant since the day the battle raged. For the past week they have had the struggle all to themselves and have never been separated by more than a half game.

Cuyler and Grimm on Sick List Now
The Cubs are fighting hard, as the Braves are, but the status of Cuyler and Grimm, who are on the sick list, is a genuine worry to the Cubs.

Strong Washington Crew on Way East
Seattle, June 11 (AP)—The best conditioned University of Washington crew is strong, Coach Al Thompson said today. The crew has been training for the Intercollegiate rowing regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and the Olympic trials.

Coach Urickson said only one timbering-up workout will be taken today, followed by a dry run on the Hudson before the race June 20.

Exhibition Game by Lacrosse Team
Because of injuries to five players, the Toronto team of the American Lacrosse Association will have to show for its game with the Montreal team on June 12.

Manager Neil of the Boston club could only put on an exhibition game of three lacrosse players in the Shamrock's squad. Paul Mackenney sustained an injury in the play.

Fred Brute, of Horse Fame, Dead
New Egremont, June 11 (AP)—Fred E. Brute, 63, once a widely known driver and conditioner of harness race horses, died today. He was a brother of Harry Brute and an uncle of Lynn Brute, both drivers on the Grand and short circuit. He formerly lived at Windsor Locks and Hartford, Ct.

PROFIT-TAKING ERASES FRESH STOCK RISE

New York, June 11.—Late profit-taking erased a fresh rise in the stock market in Wall Street today. After further pushing of the bulls, however, the market closed with a slight advance of 1/8 point, the closing tone was slightly heavy. The turnover was around 7,000,000 shares.

Although pushed up 3 points, on top of the advance of about 30 points in the past two days, the market closed with a slight advance of 1/8 point.

Numerous advances of 1 to 3 points registered in the first hour were followed by a few losses close to a point or more, but the market was not heavy. The turnover was around 7,000,000 shares.

Financial quarters were still encouraged by expectations of an adjustment of earnings, but the future legislative uncertainties, particularly the prospect of the bonus army in Washington has led to a decline in expectations, although there is no expectation that the $2,000,000,000 bonus bill will be enacted.

The appearance of reports in brokerage circles that steel operations will be closed in the near future, probably to a new low for the year, apparently put a damper on the early bullish enthusiasm. Aggregate operations in the construction of steel, however, were expected to show slight improvement next year.

STEEL IS UNCHANGED

U. S. Steel and New York Central closed unchanged, with the latter showing a slight advance of 1/8 point. American Steel and Wire closed 1/8 point higher, while the American Steel and Wire closed 1/8 point higher.

SPECTATOR

Another bear hunt is on in the "wild" of Wall Street. Inspired by the success of the surprise Auburn maneuver, other groups have taken courage and begun sharehoarding at stocks known to have extensive short interests. This makes it all very artificial, yet has done a lot to change sentiment very rapidly in spite of nervousness in various quarters. What is evidently happening is that various situations are being created and plans being made to give bears the "works" in other stocks. Yet the situation on Wall Street is such that there is some big news in the wind.

Sentiment Better

It is believed to expect that the power of the market will be as an operation as is going on in Auburn, and all its aid to sentiment, unless pending developments would bear it up.

There was a lot of buying yesterday, and all of it couldn't have been short coverings. In fact, the market of Wall Street in the last few days suggests that considerable short selling has been taking place on a scale up and that the short interest in the market hasn't gone down very much.

The difficulties of the big operator said to have been caught in Auburn are understood to be due to two-day calls he has been making. All in all, the market is expected to be as an operation as is going on in Auburn, and all its aid to sentiment, unless pending developments would bear it up.

Commodity Pool Viewed as in Good Position

New York, June 11 (AP)—The Owen D. Young committee of bankers and industrialists now has a pool working to a pool operation, turning its attention to the commodity markets. The group hopes to bring order to the chaotic organization of a similar pool or stabilization corporation.

Next to securities, the liquidation has been heaviest in commodities. In general, commodity prices have slumped 10 per cent since the end of 1929, while stocks have tumbled 50 per cent in that period. Bond values have melted 32 per cent since the end of 1929.

Stabilizing commodity prices will prove a larger order than the stabilization of securities. The Owen D. Young committee has a wide market to deal with, while in bonds the market is chiefly domestic and influenced in the main by local conditions.

The farm board has been attempting to stabilize the prices of the two chief American commodities—wheat and cotton—with success. The farm board's experiments will cost the American taxpayer about $100,000,000.

However, this latest endeavor will likely be at least one private. And it has the advantage of starting at a low price. The Owen D. Young committee has a wide market to deal with, while in bonds the market is chiefly domestic and influenced in the main by local conditions.
